* = Average Points

A strong Southerly change overnight brought rain and overcast conditions for today's racing. Very light winds out of the South were experienced - one of the lightest days that I can remember. The 'breeze' gradually fizzled out and totally dropped after lunch, resulting in racing being abandoned in the early afternoon. The Soling 1Ms started the day and the first three races were sailed in a consistent 'flutter'. After that, finding the breeze was a lucky dip. At the completion of five races, Robert took first place from Phil in second and Ian in third. In the 10 Rater racing, Sid got caught on a buoy rope in race one and so was given average points for that race. In the light conditions Allan's Paradox proved the boat to beat and came in first. Second place was a tie between Phil and Robert with Ian coming third.
